

Arturs Logins

Knowledge, Practice, and Merit

Department of Philosophy, University of Geneva, Switzerland

e-mail: Arturs.Logins@unige.ch

In this paper I discuss the role that knowledge plays with regard to rational action. It has been recently argued that knowledge determines appropriate action. I examine this proposal, consider objections against it, and finally propose a defense of it.